DCI WEEKLY

PUBLIC AFFAIRS OFFICE

The DCI's off-the-record meeting with ABC News senior officials and broadcasters went well and was most appreciated according to the ABC officials who participated.

The DCI's American Legion Magazine interview, with our approval, has been paraphrased and distributed by Byliner News Service to the op-ed page editors of all 1700 U.S. daily newspapers. We vetted the Byliner text before they distributed it.

The PRB has completed its review of the [] article. While inaccurate and not well written, it seems to avoid discussion of classified information.

Academia and Presentations

We continue to receive complimentary thank-you letters from the university presidents who visited with us recently. They uniformly found the presentations by senior Agency officers to have been very enlightening and enjoyed their stay.

We are collaborating with the Directorate of Intelligence on the development of an orientation program to be given in September for DI personnel who will be involved in its 1984-85 Directorate recruitment program.

The State Department's Center for Foreign Studies on 21 June conducted a seminar involving both UK and Argentine officials concerning the Falklands-Malvinas War. Contending that this was the first official contact between UK and Argentina since the cessation of hostilities, the Center invited the Agency to send representatives to the seminar but the notice arrived in our office too late to take advantage of it. In consequence, however, [] contacted appropriate DI and NIC elements about arranging a post-seminar discussion with State representatives. With strong encouragement of all involved DI components, [] is presently arranging a session for them with the State officers.

Forty-five members of the Michigan Public Service Intern Group--all students--were briefed by [] of this office and an OP representative. The students said that the session was the high point of their trip to Washington and the program coordinator requested a repeat in 1985.

We have produced and distributed 183 copies of the Social Sciences Professional Meetings Calendar for June-December 1984 and 123 copies of the Science and Engineering Calendar for the same period.
